Melting on the Mountains

Who doesn't like melted cheese? Whether it is a traditional grilled cheese sandwich that brings home our creature comforts or a mountainous plate of nachos smothered with gooey goodness, it usually pleases the palate! Much of what we know might not have really been true cheese at all, as so much of the past was processed and chemical creations, but America has moved to embrace better cheese.

The great melting cheeses started in the high mountain areas of Europe, crossing the boundaries of Switzerland, Italy and France. Huge wheels were created with the best Alpine milk available during the summer months in chalet creameries and brought down and sold at markets. During the cold winter months these great wheels helped people survive, as they could draw selections from their cellar stash to create some amazing meals! Fondue has been a tradition in both Switzerland and France for many years, blending mixtures of many cheeses to create the ultimate flavor profiles. I was fortunate long ago, before I was in the cheese business, to stay in Switzerland and eat a family dinner of Fondue made with seven cheeses; an amazing culinary experience. Fondue is most often made with a blend, but Emmentaler and Gruyere are the most common and traditional. In Italy a dish is made with Fontina and named Fonduta, but the same principles apply: crusty bread dipped in molten cheese! Yet I've seen versions of Fondue made with Camembert and black truffles, so endless possibilities exist.

Another great dish, not quite as known in this country, is Raclette. Raclette, which means 'to scrape' is perhaps even more fundamental, as there are no added ingredients like wine or starch; just pure melted cheese scraped right off the heated wheel. It is both a dish and a cheese, made in both France and Switzerland. Last season we brought in our own Life in Provence Raclette, a creamy and deliciously mild version made in France, perfect for an introduction to this time honored dish. No special equipment is needed, as strips of the cheese can be melted in the oven over roasted potatoes and served with a little Raisin River Black Forest Ham or Smoked Duck Breast or just eaten out of a warm minipan with Life in Provence Party Toasts and tart Cornichons

On the more American side of things, a grilled cheese made with Tribeca sourdough and a little Pleasant Ridge Reserve could be devastating; a Midwest Fondue with Fair Oaks Emmentaler and Roth Käse Surchoix Gruyere could be fun for those creating regional recipes; or try your warm tortilla chips dipped in a Queso Fundido made with Marieke Smoked Cumin Gouda for a smoky Southwest taste.

In these wintry days you should think of melted cheese, it will warm your spirit and delight your senses.

Wild & Unique Foods by Alex Yilmaz, Meat & Game Buyer Black Forest Prosciutto

Abraham Black Forest Prosciutto is made from only the finest ingredients. Fresh pork and a bit of salt and seasonings are smoked over real pine tree chips in natural brick stone chambers. After the three week smoking period, this authentic Black Forest Prosciutto is cured to perfection under the watchful eye of their curing masters.

Abraham Black Forest Prosciutto is the only ham available in the United States that is made under the strict guidelines of the Association of Black Forest Ham Manufacturers (Schutzverband der Schwarzwaelder Schinkenhersteller). Abraham's dedication for over thirty years and their exceptional experience in making only dry cured ham products, combined with their industrial standards and their unique HPP process, make this Black Forest Prosciutto a unique item in the US Deli and Specialty Food industry.

Quality begins with the raw products. Abraham thus obtains its supplies exclusively from selected butchery companies in Germany, Holland, Belgium, Spain and Denmark. All suppliers are subject to strict controls and are audited by staff from Abraham's Quality Assurance department. Each in-coming ham is additionally inspected with regard to freshness, fat content and cut.

Ham, either smoked or air-dried, is an all-natural piece of meat with no modification of its inherent structure. The consumer can see this in the final product. Jürgen Abraham, managing partner and responsible for the commercial area: "The consumers know that raw ham is a product whose natural quality can be recognized by its appearance."

"Manufacturers of all-natural products are reliant on nature being protected". In this respect, Abraham is regarded as a pioneer in its branch. The ham specialist has combined its modern production operations with a system of environmental management which is also in line with the very latest standards.

New from Valrhona: Caramélia milk chocolate made with caramel!

This totally unique chocolate is unlike any you've ever tasted! It is manufactured with a dark caramel base (milk, sugar and butter) that is then blended with cacao and milk powder to produce a dark amber colored milk chocolate couverture. The taste and texture are incredible! It begins smoothly on the tongue, and the intense creamy caramel taste builds into a long velvety finish. It is not overly sweet at all, but rather sophisticated and totally addictive! It is well suited for molding and ganaches, and will bring a unique flavor and texture to your bon bons and desserts.

The ganache recipe below was developed by David Capy MOF, the head pastry chef at L'Ecole du Grand Chocolat in Tain L'Hermitage, France:

Salted Butter Caramel Ganache

220 g Caster sugar

120 g Glucose

240 g Whipping cream 35%

240 g CARAMÉLIA 34% MILK COUVERTURE

60 g VALRHONA COCOA BUTTER

60 g Inverted sugar

120 g Salted butter

OS Fine flower of salt

Bring the cream with the glucose and inverted sugar to a boil.

Cook the caster sugar dry to caramel stage and deglaze with the hot liquid.

Pour the hot cream gradually over the Caramélia couverture and cocoa butter both melted beforehand, stirring in the centre with a rubber spatula to create a core of emulsion.

This texture should be kept until the end of mixing. As soon as the ganache reaches 35 / 40°C, process the butter in with a hand blender making sure not to incorporate any air bubbles in.

The temperature of the ganache must be below 30°C to be poured inside bon bon moulds.

Holiday Spirit

With the hopes of inspiring some holiday spirit into our staff, European Imports held a gingerbread house decorating competition in December. The competition was open to all the employees in our Chicago warehouse. The result was six beautifully decorated houses. Some complete with lights and occupants.

As you know, every competition has to have a winner and here are the winners of our competition:

First place went to Rosalina Sauceda and Anais Ortega from our accounting department. They did an incredible job using pretzels to give their gingerbread house the look of a log cabin. They topped it off with a candy roof and Santa for their winning entry.

Second place went to our receptionists. Marilyn Perez and Patricia Serna are the first voices you hear when you call our office in Chicago. Their beach themed gingerbread house included a brown sugar beach, palm trees made from cookies and fruit roll ups and gingerbread men sunbathing on the beach.

We were thrilled by the buzz this competition created and the interest shown by our employees. We are all looking forward to making this an annual event. Congratulations to all the participants.

Bubbly Organic Juices

LeVillage Organic Sparkling Juices

Sometimes we all need a little bubbly in our lives. Bubble baths. Bubble gum. Bubbly juice drinks. LeVillage's sparkling juice drinks have always fit the bubbly juice drink bill and now they are adding organic into the mix.

Each juice starts with a base of organic apple juice. LeVillage uses a blend of sweet, tart, dry and bitter apples. Unlike regular apples, the apples used to make these juices are specifically selected for their rich Tannin contents. Each type of apple has its own unique essence, highlighting either their sweet, bittersweet, bitter or acidic components.

The organic apple juice is then mixed with pure sparkling water and the end result is an organic fruit juice beyond compare. Their fruit sources are so pure and flavorful no sugar is needed. That's right - no added sugar, preservatives or anything artificial.

These juices really take on the flavor of the fruits used. They taste like real fruit. The apple taste like real apples, so does the pear, peach, pomegranate and raspberry.

Imported from France, each juice is packed in an elegant Champagne-style bottle with a cork and metal cap. These non-alcoholic beverages are a great alternative to beer, wine and champagne. LeVillage's Organic Sparkling Fruit Juices are the beverages to serve to everyone for any special occasion. You will love the refreshment and the elegance of the flavors.
