Boldly Flavored Goat Cheese

LaClare Creamery is dedicated to pursuing perfection in flavor and quality to produce distinctly delicious goat cheese. The creamery's world-class cheeses combine a passion for Wisconsin cheesemaking traditions with unmatched attention to detail. Every variety reflects a commitment to clean taste and extraordinary flavor, with freshness at the core. From the creamy canvas of chèvre infused with unique flavors to robust hard cheeses, each product showcases this dedication.

The process begins with the best milk. As one of the only 100% domestically produced goat cheese brands in the country, LaClare sources milk exclusively from local dairies, reducing miles traveled and minimizing CO₂ emissions. The goats' balanced diet of grains and forage yields only the finest milk, which is handled quickly and carefully between farms and the creamery. This high-quality milk allows LaClare's signature clean flavor and freshness to flourish. Each cheese can be enjoyed on its own as a snack or dessert, used to top salads or pizza, spread onto sandwiches, added to pasta dishes, or incorporated into desserts.

Goat cheese, also called chèvre, is one of the oldest cheeses in the world, with production records dating back to around 5,000 BC. The milk goats produce contains certain fatty acids that give goat cheese its signature tangy flavor and are also easier for some people with lactose intolerance to digest.

BEHER, The Best of Pork

Founded in the 1930s in Guijuelo, Spain, by Bernardo Hernández, BEHER is a family-run company now proudly led by its fourth generation. Continuing the legacy, the Hernández family recently expanded to the United States with a clear mission: to bring Americans the world's most awarded Ibérico ham (Jamon) and Spanish Ibérico cured meats.

Often called the “Wagyu of pork,” 100% Ibérico pork is prized for its exceptional marbling and melt-in-your-mouth texture. At BEHER, pigs are raised free-range and exclusively fed with acorns during the final four months. Throughout the curing process, only natural ingredients are used, with no additives, resulting in an unmatched depth of flavor and texture.

With over 95 years of expertise, BEHER maintains full control over every step of production—from breeding 100% Ibérico pigs on its own farms in Spain with the highest welfare standards to curing each piece using traditional methods and freshly slicing product on demand in Austin. At its Austin facilities, BEHER produces all-natural Ibérico sausages (embutidos) using traditional Spanish recipes, reinforcing its long-term commitment to the American market through local production.

Spice Up Your Dishes!

Burlap & Barrel is the first comprehensive single-origin spice company in the United States. Every spice they offer can be traced back to a specific production area, allowing each to showcase its own unique terroir. Just as provenance has reshaped the way people experience coffee, chocolate, wine, and produce, Burlap & Barrel has extended this value system to spices for the very first time.

As a social enterprise, Burlap & Barrel partners directly with farmer cooperatives and small farms, bypassing brokers and middlemen to ensure fair prices and access to distinctive varieties. This approach also reduces storage time, resulting in fresher, more intensely flavored spices than most others available on the market.

By spending time with their farmer partners, Burlap & Barrel gains firsthand insight into the economic, social, and cultural factors shaping their methods. In turn, they provide support to improve the quality, quantity, and value of each harvest—creating a sustainable model that elevates both flavor and fairness.

From Campania's stunning coastline comes Dolce Sorrento, maker of delicate sponge cakes (Delizia) in flavors like Tiramisu and Pistachio, along with a Cannoli Chocolate Chip Cake layered with buffalo ricotta cream, hazelnut, and almond flour biscuits. Each dessert is handcrafted to honor the region's pastry traditions. Founded in 2005, Panificio Cremona Italia combines artisan quality with large-scale production. Retail & Foodservice Industry Trends

The Latest in Food Trends: Authentic Taste Experience, Specialty Cheese Flavors, Functional Foods

In the Specialty Food Association's latest Trend Report, created with The Food Institute and MenuData, data reveals how consumers are demanding authentic and culturally-inspired ingredients, gaining inspiration from specialty cheese flavors, and seeking products with clean ingredients.

Key Insights from SFA and Others:

Rising consumer demand for authentic international tastes is pushing retailers to rethink their product mix, especially in the premium space. Younger consumers, especially the Millennial and Gen Z generations, are embracing global flavors now more than ever, according to industry experts. Even amid inflation, this group is willing to splurge on specialty foods and premium beverages, like single-origin coffee or craft condiments. Restaurants are leaning into this trend by using heirloom and single-origin ingredients—not just for their flavor, but to spark curiosity and conversation.

The key component that helps brands resonate with this younger audience: authenticity. According to Datassential, “53% of consumers find authenticity to be a significant factor when trying unfamiliar food”. For operators to tap into the buying power of these younger consumers, it is essential to innovate and blend traditional flavors into modern recipes.

Specialty Cheese Charge: Sales for specialty cheese continue to grow, especially in the North American market, which accounts for about 25% of global specialty cheese sales. Many vendors are reimagining tradition by blending global ingredients with classic cheeses, creating fresh, innovative twists on familiar favorites. In recent years, consumer demand for alternative-milk cheeses has also increased, with some top brands growing almost 9 points faster than their counterparts.

Premium Snacking with Functional Flair: As consumer tastes shift toward quality and experience, certain categories are thriving, especially in the snacking and gourmet baked goods space. Consumers are more willing to pay up for products made with better, cleaner ingredients.

What is driving the premiumization in snacking?

- Functional Foods: Think nutrient-dense items and power-packed snacks
- Sustainable & Shelf-Stable: Products that are innovative, whether it be in their packaging, sourcing, or ingredient list
- Fiber-Focused: Gut health remains top of mind for consumers
- Marketing: Many successful brands highlight how their “extras” improve consumers' lives, whether that is through health benefits, sustainability, or indulgence
