CHEESES DEBUT IN NEW YORK

now available in stock at E.I.L.

The Fancy Food Shows allow us the opportunity to bring out our favorites, our finest and our NEWEST and this year's summer show in New York is no exception. We proudly announced the addition of five new farmstead and craftsman cheeses of Spain; an artisanal Comte St Antoine from Jura; new American Artisan cheeses from Three Sisters of California as well as line extensions from Bingham Hill of Colorado, Cypress Grove of California and Woodstock of Vermont; three new cheeses from Vod Gourmet and much more. Along with other new items acquired since the Chicago Fancy Food Show, the following products will be inventoried for your ordering convenience.

NEW

018150 Comte Saint Antonie 1/75 lb
Jura, France

Hand made by Marcel Petit in Fort St. Antoine, possibly the best cheese ripening caves of Jura. Day-to-day production and curing of 14 months gives this raw cow's milk gruyere a complexity flavor that lingers long.

120194 Thomas Hoe Stevenson Stilton 2/18 lb
Long Clawson Dairy, Melton Mowbray

England's King of Blue. Named after the founder of Long Clawson, aged 3 months, packed in black box.

406016 Three Sisters Farmstead, 1/10 lb
Artisan Cheese Serena
Central Valley of California

Made with raw, rBGH free milk of Jersey cow. Has a hard, smooth, tight texture, intensely nutty flavor, and a bandage-wrapped natural rind. Ripened 9 to 12 months. Multi-award winner.

406027 Bella Sorella 1/10 lb

Made with raw, Jersey cow's milk. A well balance, semi-firm cheese with a young gruyere style texture and a sweet-savory flavor with a bandage-wrapped, natural rind. Both produced by Marisa Simoes on the family farm.

020183 Ashgrove Wild Wasabi 8/5 lb

Derived from Tasmania, Australia, Ashgrove Wild Wasabi is a traditional English style cheddar with flavorful wild wasabi. The stem and the leaf of the wild Australian wasabi are used to make this delicious cheese, which has taken five years to develop. An excellent addition to Asian style dishes, the cheese comes in cryovaced blocks. Green in color, this smooth and creamy cheese should be added to cooking dishes only after they are finished, as the heat will deteriorate the wasabi flavor.

Experience Scottish King

Scottish King's all natural Atlantic salmon comes from the waters of Scotland's Outer Hebrides Islands. Once selected, each fillet is cleaned and deboned by skilled fishermen. The fillets are then rubbed in fresh herbs, sea salt and brown sugar and buried for at least 24 hours. This family recipe has been used for generations and produces a texture that is perfect for absorbing the natural smoke flavor. The filets are then slowly smoked over Oak chips from Scotland. By smoking the salmon over smoldering natural wood chips it develops a distinct flavor. The fillets are then allowed to absorb these wonderful flavors for 48 hours to insure uniform flavor and texture. The superior balance of smoke, salt and natural salmon will be noticed in the first bite. You will also note a buttery flavor. These ready to eat salmon sides are painstakingly hand-trimmed, thinly sliced and vacuum packed to seal in the smoke house freshness. Serve the smoke salmon at ambient room temperature which will allow the natural oils to soften and puddle on the flesh. This product is then ready for omelets, salads, and pasta recipes. I love smoked salmon on a toasted bagel with cream cheese, sliced onions, and tomatoes. This is clean, all natural, smooth smoked salmon. (The Scottish King label replaces the Craigellachie label).
